

Volunteer Mandarin Translator

Health Connected is a growing nonprofit organization that provides puberty and sexual health education to young people in the Bay Area and across California. Health Connected is seeking a volunteer Mandarin language translator to translate and/or edit our existing materials from English to Mandarin. Experience with biological and medical terminology in Mandarin is preferred. This is an unpaid position.

This is a great opportunity for someone interested in the health or education fields. Translation work can be conducted remotely; however, we prefer to have a volunteer based in the San Francisco Bay Area to conduct occasional in-person meetings to strategize and/or review translations. Candidate should exhibit advanced skills in reading, writing, and speaking Mandarin.

Please send a CV/resume and a sample of translation work to joinourteam@health-connected.org.
